FIJI CUP 2026 – Water

BULA !

Can you drink the water in Fiji?

This is a common question and the simple answer is to be aware that just like in Australia, the quality of the water will vary.

Water in Broken Hill or Wagga is different to that in Sydney or Adelaide. If you live there, your body has adapted, and so it is considered normal drinking water.

Fiji is the same. The Fijians can drink from any tap as they are accustomed to the taste and quality.

Within Radisson Blu the water is (supposedly) filtered BUT your stomach may not enjoy it (if you know what I mean). Can be uncomfortable on the bus to the game.

Outside of the resort it is definitely NOT RECOMMENDED to drink the water.

Ultimate Sports Travel will purchase bottled water (24 bottles of 600ml to the case) and each player will have a case available when you arrive at the resort.

Supporters (and additional water for Players) can order a case or more of water by replying in your WhatsApp group.

A case of water will cost Au$20 (about 80 cents a bottle). Payment will be added to your invoice.

The heat of the day will dehydrate you and players at games will drink more than usual as the conditions are very hot.

It is recommended water consumption to be around 2 to 3 litres in a day.

NOTE: We may be able to make one additional order for water during the time you are in Fiji, but it is certainly best to order prior to avoid delays. Have a think about how much you will need.

REMEMBER: Bottled water is for drinking and not to wash your face or pour over your head!

Note that any unopened bottles of water are donated to the local hospital for the new born babies.

As always, I am happy to take a phone call or answer an email if you have any further questions.

Vinaka (Thank you)

Bruce and the Ultimate Team.
